EDGREN'S
COLUMN

(Tune: The Public B. D.)
We are the jolly jockey club,
And the bookies our brothers be;
So what do we care while we've coin to spare?
For the PUBLIC what care we?

Chorus.
Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ha!
Isn't he the comic little duck?
We'll divvy up his money—ain't it funny?
Then we'll hand him out a carfare just for luck!

Oh, Captain Kid he got hanged, he did,
For dabbling in piracy.
But he was a fussy curmudgeon, rusty.
Not right up to date, like WE!
Ho, ho, ho! etc.

THE Fitzsimmons-Mike Schreck fight is now a fixture. The great old champion, a little lighter, a little more bald, perhaps, and with knuckles knotted from breaks he got in smashing them against the bony countenance of his Jim-Jeffries, is coming back into the ring. He likes fighting too well to give it up for a while. And, if you will allow me to prophesy, old Bob Fitzsimmons will whip a lot of men yet, and it will take a lot of beating to worry him.

Fitzsimmons has all of his ancient confidence. He never has over-estimated his fighting ability except in the fight with Jeffries himself. Probably when Fitz demanded a 25-cent division of the purse, winner and loser, he knew what he could do to Schreck. As soon as he does it, others of the light heavies will hear from the man who made the solar plexus and the shift famous.

BALL GROUNDS, WASHINGTON
PARK, BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 23.—One of the slimmest crowds of spectators that have witnessed a game at the grounds here so far this season watched the opening of the series between Ned Hanlon's Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals this afternoon.

JOHN POLLOCK.

Shay lifted a high fly which Dobbs coiled red. Shannon's grounder hit Eason in the leg and bounded to Lewis, who threw the runner out at first. Arndt then tied the ball to left and stopped at the first base and made a clever throw of second by sliding. Beckley smoot doubled along the first base line for two bases, scoring Arndt and Beckley. Dunleavy singled, according to Smoot. Burke wet out to Lewis to Babb. THREE RUNS.

Gessler was retired by Beckley, unassisted. Lumley made a pretty out, but was easily nailed stealing second on Warner's throw. Ritter, Babb fanned the air. NO RUNS.

WORK MONDAY WONDERS.

Warner's high foul fly was gathered in by Batch. Thielman drew a free pass to first. Shay was retired by Eason and Babb. Thielman moving up to second, Shannon singled to center, Beckley fanned. Shannon was caught stealing second on Ritter's throw to Lewis. ONE RUN.

Owens pushed a grounder to Shay and died at first. Arndt singled to center and reached second on Warner's fumble of Dobbs's high-bouncer in front of the plate. Babb struck out. Ritter walked, hitting the bases. Eason went out, Thielman to Beckley. NO RUNS.

CATCHING CLARKE AT THIRD.

Arndt was disposed of by Batch and Babb. Beckley raised a fly which was smothered. Smoot sent a grounder to Lewis and was the third out. NO RUNS.

Gessler was an easy victim on strikes. Arndt then grabbed Lumley's fast grounder and retired him at first. Babb was the next victim on his high jumper, which Shay nailed to Beckley in time for an out. NO RUNS.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

(Special to The Evening World.)
DETROIT, Mich., May 23.—Having been thrown out of the game when he was working good, Griffith decided to go back to-day. He says he has a hunch he can beat "these fellows," and he is determined to go through a battle with the permission of one of the St. Louis team this afternoon.

BOZEMAN BULGER.

Griffith pitched a high fly which Dobbs coiled red. Shannon's grounder hit Eason in the leg and bounded to Lewis, who threw the runner out at first. BY ALLEN SANGREE.

(Special to The Evening World.)
POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, May 23.—A nice, peaceable crowd saw the famous Reds of Cincinnati take a fall out of the Giants to-day. Not a blow was struck, not a "unkind word" was said. The Reds were feeling quite cheerful, for they had their greatest pitcher on tap, namely, Overall, the man with a brain like

ALLEN SANGREE.

McCauley and the build of Jeffries. Furthermore, they had a newly arranged infield with Jack Barry on first base. Barry played last year with Philadelphia, was then bought by Chicago and now wears the red uniform. Joe Kelley, who has been playing that position, went out in left field, his natural job. Kelley in the field is nearly as good as Fred Clarke. He knows where every man is liable to hit and lays for him. Mathewson was selected by McGraw to give the Reds their first jolt, and the betting was 3 to 1 on the Giants.

VINCENT TREANOR.

VINCENT TREANOR, the assistant sporting editor of The Evening World, was born on the middle west side, where champions come from. He became interested in athletics before he was out of knickerbockers and when he writes about sports he writes as one having experience. He has been in The Evening World Sporting Department for eleven years.

Mr. Treanor has as wide an acquaintance among sporting men as any one in the city connected with the sporting department of a newspaper. When there is anything doing he knows about it. He enjoys the confidence of all the big men who furnish New Yorkers with athletic amusement, and upon this acquaintance he has helped to establish The Evening World as the leading newspaper in New York in the field of sports. In addition he is a trained and skilful newspaper man with knowledge of how to get the news into the office, into type and on the street in advance of and in better shape than his contemporaries.

Great interest developed in Overall, who towered above even Matty. He is about 5 feet 4 inches, over all, perfectly proportioned, and shows a baseball thrower's ease of a juggler tossing marbles. McGraw was in the field as usual, not a hit came down over Barry's head. He was heard to call at Bowman's name. "Hey, Frank, and, strange to say, the Michigan teamman replied sweetly. Something like 3,000 fans thought it a good way to spend the afternoon.
